NOBODY WANTS THAT GOLD RING
For monthy 100 years a certain family of working people living in Paris have ended their lives by suicide. From father to son, from methor to daughter, has descended a plain gold ring, and on the fluger of every one of these suicides, as they lay in death, this ring has been found. Only last year the body of a young man who had killed himself was brought to the Morgue, and on his finger was the fatal golden circlet.
He was the last of his race. The ring was buried with the corpse, from which no one ac- quainted with its history will have the courage to remove it.

The mental taint in this family came from some remote ancestor, and was intensified by their recognition of it until it became a controlling force: and the ring was accepted as imposing upon its possessor the obligation to commit suicide, after the example of the person who last wore it. This form of monia usually originates in a disorder of the nervous system, Captain L. M. Wibmer, R.N.B., will leave for which in its turn arises from ansomia or poverty | the above places TO-DAY, the 29th instant, at of the blood, one of the results of imperfect Noon.

A recent letter from a gentleman living in Norfolk contains the following assertion:-"I longed for death; I was afraid of the night; mas afraid to be alone, yet, I hated society. was afrail that in some one of those hours of deep gloom and depression I should lift my hand against my own life, for I knew that many had done so from 'he same cause." 'The dark hours became a time of terror to him, so he says. He tossed and tumbled on his bed, wondering if morning would ever dawn again. In this case it was not an accusing conscience, as he had committed no offence; the cause was purely physical one—yet, all too common in England—indigestion and dyspapsia, with the long chain of consequences dragging after it, nervous collapse among them. He relates that his skin and eyes bud been more or less discoloured for years, often of a ghastly and repulsive yellow. This was thus to the presence of bile in the blood and tissues, FTHE Steamship where it had no business to be. But as the weak and torpid liver could not remove it, uo other result was possible than the one our triend experienced. His head frequently ached as though fiends had turned it into a workshop, and pains chased one another through his body as though he had at least half the maladies catalogued in the popular books on disease. -Yet one thing, and our only, was respectible for all the mischief, namely, the poison introduced into the blood from the decaying food in the stomach and intestines. The cold feet, the loss of appetite and ambition, the mental despondency, the sense of weariness and fatigue, the bad taste in the mouth, dry cough, giddiness, palpitation, chills, weakness, &c., are a brood of Captain Duke, will be despatched as above on foul birds hatched in one nest, and the mother or about the 29th inst.

is always indirection and dyspepsia Time passed a mehow, as it always does. whother we laugh or cry, and this man grew heartily tired of a life thus burdened and spoiled. He longed to see the end of it, and no wonder, But the last page of his letter is pitched in a higher key. He says, "When I think of what I was, and what I am now, I can hardly realize the change. For the past six months I have been using a preparation known as Mother Seigel's Curative Syrap, and it has actualy FOR SWATOW, AMOY AND FOOCHOW. revolutionised my whole system. One of my tenants renommended it to me, and I tried i just to please him. Now I praise it for mysulf and thank the men who make and advertise it. My troubles are over, and I feel (at 57) as light, elastic, and gay as a boy on his summer vacation. LIGHT. I tell my doctors they are beaten at their own trade by an old German nurse, and so far as I am concerned they can't deny it. I have no more horrible thoughts of self-destruction, for I find ton much enjoyment in living. My thanks are too doop for words."

The author of this letter consents to the publication of so much of it as is here printed, but THE Steamship declines to allow the use of his name, at least for the present, for ressons we are bound to respect. But the evident sincerity of his story will carry conviction to every candid mind.
